Emmett Flynn was on top of the world at the age of twenty. He had a long way to fall. At a time when his peers were still planning their lives, Emmett was just trying to make it from one day to the next. Four years ago he won a playoff game for the New York Mets. Now, he runs the family store in Savannah, Georgia. Laney Palmer is a single mother with troubles of her own. She shares a home with her divorced sister, a mother of two. Bonnie Palmer is recovering from a life-threatening illness. Emmett and Laney get by on the strength of their spirits, the love of their families, and their sense of humor.

In a perfect world, nothing could keep them apart. But when the world continues to deliver trouble from the past and the present, young love might not have the strength to rise from the ashes. In a very imperfect world, that's what love will have to do.
