They made her a victim . . . Parnell Oliver is an enigma; a celebrated war veteran with a checkered conscience.

Being a Dom at Club Wicked Cove is a role he plays with aplomb. But there's something he's been denying himself for long—Kacie Harris. She's gorgeous, alluring and . . . his friend's baby sister. Kacie has lived in the eye of the storm all her life. Her invisible scars have never healed.

She's been broken beyond repair. Or so she thinks. Until, Parnell pulls her out of a hellhole, literally and figuratively. For Kacie, Parnell is the only hope. He's her angel, albeit with a broken wing. At Kacie's behest, Parnell concedes to becoming her mentor—his idea of sweetest hell. Parnell has to put Kacie together again. Piece by piece . . .

touch by touch . . . kiss by kiss . . . Will Kacie be able to rise above the devastation of her past? Will Parnell be able to mend the most beautifully broken girl, ever? As the mystery about their face enemy unfolds, a treacherous plot comes to light. The Occhipinti family has a closet full of skeletons, just raring to dance. All hell is about to break loose.

The enemy better watch out. Kacie is a victim no more. She is a deadly weapon. Please note: This series must be read in order.
