Can I Be Real? is my response to all of the social tensions that have controlled headlines for the past 5 years. It has created an environment that is not only exhausting but overbearing. White Supremacy has shown its face while Black frustration has led to deepening the racial divide in our country. Can I Be Real will expose you to the life and experiences of a Black Man in America while pushing the conversation towards productive solutions to one of our Nation's Greatest issues. Social Inequality.
