A modern-day retelling of Sleeping Beauty Finally free of the ten-year revolving hidden world in which she lived, Ari wants one thing before her life transforms for the final and most critical time—to see the young man who first brought her love. But he no longer lives in the beaten-down shack he'd once shared with his abusive, alcoholic father. Where could he be? Will Ari find him in time, or will those who want her dead find her first? She'd search to the ends of the earth, if only ... ~Run, run, as through a maze. A spinning wheel will end your days.

~ ... her mother's premonition hadn't just come true. Trying to absolve himself of his greatest sin, Manny seeks to help those in need, even if one of them is his very wealthy employer.

But the memories still assault Manny with blows more powerful than his father's fists. Until he meets the woman who will change his life. The one in a coma. Contemporary Christian Romantic Suspense / Women's Fiction / Modern-day fairytale retelling. From the author of At the Edge of a Dark Forest.
