He's a first class traveler, on his way to Washington, to discuss his ideas with the NTSB. Dean is a pilot himself, he loves flying his three jets across the states, but he preferred a commercial flight that day. He rushes into the cockpit, saves the plane and the passengers. After the ordeal, he notices a beautiful stewardess. She is smitten by him. He's the hero she's always dreamed of. The flight he saves is her last for at least two weeks. She gets some time off. They meet, go out, have sex and all. But, the man is torn: Should he pursue the sale of his revolutionary system or listen to his new girlfriend? She doesn't like the fact that people would lose their jobs and pilots would be rendered obsolete. Five Week Fiance Eli Plainview, billionaire, notoriously private man, unmarried, is down on his luck. A rival company, run by his ex-best-friend Douglas Robinson, has just launched a rival product that is stealing their business, fast.

On top of that, Douglas has made himself into the celebrity pages, garnering more interest. Eli has no choice but to turn to the one man who can fix it: Simon "The Fix" Smith. And his plan is one that will bring Eli into contact with the woman of his dreams, Angela Fitzgerald. Now he has a tough choice to make. Will he take Angela as his five-week fiancé, or will he let the company decline? Will Angela agree to such a plan? Has this mysterious, rich, handsome man got that much of a hold on her?
